LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

WAR DEPARTMENT,
ARMY MEDICAL LIBRARY,
May 15, 1939.

Major General CHARLES R. REYNOLDS,
The Surgeon General, United States Army.

GENERAL:

I have the honor to report the completion of the Fourth Volume of the Fourth Series of the Index-Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon General's Office, which is the fifty-first volume of the whole series.

The present work includes all references to literature catalogued under the letter D during the last 16 years, and has in addition a few pages called Specimen Pages from a Bio-bibliography of Sixteenth Century Medical Authors. There are also additions to the list of abbreviations of journals recently subscribed to by the Library, and a few pages of continuation of the List of Congresses previously published in the Third Volume. The Fourth Volume thus forms 812 pages.

The Bio-bibliography of Sixteenth Century Medical Authors prepared by Dr. Claudius F. Mayer, editor of the Index-Catalogue, is planned to be printed as supplemental fasciculi of the future volumes of the Index-Catalogue. The list will be an alphabetical one including all the works of sixteenth-century physicians and all medical works of sixteenth-century authors. A short biography of each author will precede the list of his works. Copies in the possession of the Surgeon General's Library will be described exhaustively. It is hoped that the list will be appreciated by medical librarians, since no other similar reference work is available.

The following table shows the number of titles in the Index-Catalogue, as far as published:

	Author titles	Subject titles
		Books	Journal articles
First Series (16 volumes).....	176,364	168,537	511,112
Second Series (21 volumes).....	169,812	136,405	645,557
Third Series (10 volumes).....	88,876	57,034	603,600
Fourth Series, Volume One.....	2,779	4,454	71,168
Fourth Series, Volume Two.....	8,892	3,631	79,874
Fourth Series, Volume Three.....	4,281	4,302	77,479
Fourth Series, Volume Four.....	3,798	4,375	55,950
Total to date.....	454,802	378,738	2,044,740

The Library now contains approximately 409,223 volumes, 377,000 pamphlets of all sorts, including letters, broadsides, and, as nearly as could be ascertained, 192,832 theses. The yearly acquisition of the Library amounts to an average of 18,000 different items. This means that the Library needs about 150 yards of new shelf space each year. Although Congress has approved the building of a new library, the lack of an appropriation has resulted in further delay in providing adequate housing of the books, and has multiplied existing difficulties in library administration.

A considerable number of rare books were purchased during the last fiscal year, including many sixteenth-century works and several medieval manuscripts. Some of the more important are:

BESSON, J. Art et moyen parfait de tirer huyles et eaux (Paris, 1573); BODENSTEIN, A. Herrlicher philosophischer Rathschlag zu curirn Pestilentz (Basel, 1577); DE BARONI, G. Giardino medicinale (Verona, 1595); JAVELLUS, C. Epithoma super libros de anima Aristotelis (Venezia, 1562); OSTWALD, C. Nutzlicher und kurtzer Bericht einem jeden in der Zeit der Pestilentz sehr von noten zuwissen (Dillingen, 1564); VAIDYASARA, a Punjab manuscript of a treatise on medicine and chemistry.

During the last nine months, 1,585 books have been purchased including 94 which may be classified as rare works. The Library also subscribed to more than 200 new medical journals, of which approximately 50 per cent are published in South American countries and 15 per cent in Soviet Russia. The collection of medical congresses has been also increased by more than 100 volumes of the transactions of various meetings.

Very respectfully,

HAROLD W. JONES,
Colonel, Medical Corps, United States Army,
The Librarian, Army Medical Library.

Syn.: Achillinus.

B. Oct. 29, 1463 (not 1461), "post meridiem", at Bologna; son of Claudio Achillino di Cavalcaselli; brother of Giovanni Filoteo ACHILLINO (see), the Italian poet; studied philosophy and medicine at the Univ. of Bologna, but not in Paris; grad. at this university, Sept. 7, 1484; prof. of logics with a salary of 100 Bolognese livres, 1484–1488; his portrait painted by Francesco FRANCIA (Jacopo BOATERI; 1487–1557), in 1486 (aet. suae 23; now in the Uffizi Collection); extraordinary prof. of philosophy at Bologna, 1488–1490; ordinary prof. of philosophy, 1490–1495; Op. 8 and Op. 13 publ., 1494; lecturer on medicine, Bologna, 1495–1497; again prof. of philos., 1497–1501;

Op. 6 publ., 1498; Op. 10 and Op. 14 publ., 1501; prof. of both philosophy and medicine at Univ. Bologna, and physician to the ruler of Bologna, Giovanni BENTIVOGLIO (1430–1508), with a prof. salary of 200 Bolognese livres, 1501–1506; at the convention of Franciscan brothers, Roma, May 1506; Op. 11 publ. 1502; Op. 3 publ. 1503; editor of TRIOMFO (Op. 15), 1503; Op. 7 and Op. 9 publ. 1504; Op. 5 publ. 1505; Op. 13 publ. 1506; political troubles in Bologna, flight to Padova, Oct. 1506; ordin. prof. of philos., Padova, Nov. 7, 1506–Sept. 1508; here, disputations with Pietro POMPONAZZI (1462–1526), Italian philosopher ("aut diabolus aut magnus Achillinus"); received an annual salary of 250 livres; called back to Bologna under the penalty of confiscation of his Bolognese property; return to Bologna, Sept. 14, 1508; prof. med., with a salary of 900 livres, 1508–1511; Op. omn. published 1508; study of Avicenna (De febribus), 1509; Op. 4 separately published, 1510; political troubles, and suspension of lectures, 1511; Op. 12 publ. 1512; died, after a few days' sickness, Aug. 2, 1512; entombed in the Chiesa di S. Martino Maggiore, Bologna. He was rather a philosopher than a physician, mixing Aristoteles with the ideas of Ibn Roshd (=Averroes). While his demonstrator, the surgeon Pietro MORSIANO, was performing autopsies, he lectured and commented on MONDINO's anatomical work. He is claimed to be the discoverer of the middle-ear ossicles, of the submandibular duct before WHARTON, of the ileocecal valve before BAUHIN, etc.

It follows MONDINO's Anatomia (Chapt. 9), on f.46v-55v: col. 1; 46v: full-page woodcut of urine examination; 47r: "Incipit repertorium ex annotationibus anatomie Magni Alexandri Achillini bononiensis noviter excerptum." 47v: preface of G. Fil. Achillini to P. Monti as in E. P.; work considered fragment of an anatomical manual; 48r: "Annotationes anatomicae ..."; explicit on 55v: in col. 1.

¶Note: The very rare Italian translation of the Fasciculus of KETHAM, published Jan. 7, 1522 by Ces. Arrivabeni in Venezia, does not have Achillini's Annotations. Mondino's work (38r-56v) is followed by Secreti de herbe. (See description under KETHAM.)

Editions nonexistent: a) 1524, Bologna, in KETHAM. Fasciculus, publ. Ettore Benedetti; confused by Brüggeman with a 1523 ed. of BERENGARIO da CARPI; b) 1516, Venezia; quoted by Capparoni, Münster; nonexistent; c) 1568, Venez., T. Antoninus; mentioned by Atkinson; error.

37 Op. 2: (editor) ARISTOTELES. Rhetorica. Venezia, O. Scotus & G. Arrivabeni, (1515)

Copy: London; Paris; Berlin; München.

4f. 118f. 13f.; fol.; Gothic; 2 cols. Title: "Rhetorica Aristotelis ..."; with commentaries of COLONNA (Aegidius Romanus) and of Alpharabius; also Poetica of Aristoteles with commentaries of Ibn Roshd. Alessandro Achillini is mentioned as editor by the catalogue of the Bibl. Nat. Paris. How is this possible?

38 Op. 3: De chyromantiae principii et physiognomiae.

Syn.: De physiognomia; De principii chyromantiae et physiognomiae; De subiecto physiognomiae et chyromantiae; Quaestio de subiecto p et c.

Text begins and ends: "Quaeritur utrum physiognomiae aut chyromantiae subiectum sit homo ... demonstracione quia utentes et speculative et de humanis operibus recte iudicantes." Achillini also wrote a preface to the 1504 Bologna ed. of COCLES(=Bartolomeo DELLA ROCCA) Anastasis chyromantiae; the preface, which is an approbation of the work of DELLA ROCCA, begins: "Venerandam sophiae veritatem ..." Op. 3 of Achillini is not the same as this Approbatio, though the title of the preface has been repeatedly used as the title of Op. 3.

ACIDALIUS, Christian, -1632.

Syn.: Havekenthal.

Prof. med. at Altorf; by his publication he belongs to the 17. century; mentioned here as editor of his brother's works (See Valentin ACIDALIUS).

ACIDALIUS, Valentin, 1567-1595.

Syn.: Acidalius, Valens; true name: Havekenthal.

B. Wittstock, a village 60 miles NW of Berlin, 1567 (not 1566); son of Heinrich A., a preacher; brother of Christian A., prof. med. at Altorf; became an orphan in early childhood; stud. med. against his inclination at Rostock, Greifswald (here Op. 1 publ. 1588) and Helmstadt; here, Op. 2 publ. 1589; went to Italy with Alexander von HAKEN, 1590; began his studies in Roman classics; in Padova, 1590; here Op. 3 publ. in the same year; stud. med. Bologna under Mercurialis (1530-1606), but never was graduated; return to Germany, 1593, together with his friend, Daniel RINDFLEISCH (=Bucretius, died 1631), who in the 17. century edited several anatomical works; in Breslau, 1593; Op. 4 and 5 publ. 1594; Op. 6 and 7 (the anonymous work) publ. 1595; suffered much persecution owing to this anonymous offensive publication; became rector in Neisse, 1595, and died May 25 of the same year from "phrenesis" (encephalitis?), but not from suicide.

He was an esteemed humanist, and poet, who never wanted to be a physician: "medicum nec ago, nec agere unquam propositum fuit". Only his Op. 7 has any interest for medicine. ¶For biography see Leuschner. De V. Acidalii vita. Lpz., 1757.

ACOSTA, Cristóvão, 1515(?)-(1580, or 1594?)

Syn.: Costa, Cristóbal de; Coste; Da Costa; De la Coste; La Costa; La Coste. Not to be confused with a Jesuit father of the same name, who in 1569 was in Malacca and wrote a letter to the Jesuit General (publ. in Lettère dell'India Orientale. Venez., 1580.) Acosta's chief work is often found in catalogues under the name of his translators (L'ECLUSE or Clusius, COLIN), under GARCIA da ORTA, Orta. In the 3. ser. of the Index-Catalogue, one finds the works of GARCIA da ORTA under Da COSTA.

B. in Africa, probably 1515, either at Mozambique, city on the East coast and then metropolis of the Portuguese possessions, or at one of the seaport towns of Morocco, Ceuta or Tangier; his father was Portuguese; no data on his education

(stud. at Coimbra Univ.?); at one time he became a slave ("fué esclavo á un bárbaro sangriento"); traveled much in Africa, and Asia (China, Persia, India); came to Goa, territory of Portuguese India, ca. 1568, and became a surgeon of the Portuguese viceroy; in Malabar, 1569; here, study and collection of Indian plants; returned to Spain, and became surgeon of the city of Burgos, ca. 1578; Op. 1 publ., 1578; after the death of his wife, he became either a monk or a hermit, and died after 1580, either at Burgos or at Compostella.

¶For biography see OLMEDILLA y PUIG, J. Estudio histórico de la vida ... del sabio médico ... C. Acosta. 1899.

72 Op. 1: Tratado de las drogas y medicinas de las Indias Orientales.

Syn.: Libro que trata de las drogas medicinales y de sus provechos.

Intended to be a verification of the statements of GARCIA da ORTA (see that, and his Coloquios dos simples e drogas e cousas medicinas da India); hence, he borrowed freely from this work. Description of 63 medicinal exotic plants in as many chapters, with an added treatise on the elephant and its qualities. Text begins and ends: "De la canela. Capítulo 1. Pues entre las Drogas medicinales ... Del opio. Capítulo LXVIII (etc.) por lo qual se vera quanta fuerza tiene el uso y costumbre." Followed by: "Tratado del elephante y de sus calidades. Puesto que este tractado del elephante tenía llegado al libro ... por abreviar, y solo contrar lo mas verdadero, callo (etc.) Vale. Finis."

Argen. un an-/ derwert emendiert und gebessert, mit vil nūwen zusatze der quinta essentia und anderer stück / (woodcut 100mm x 155mm); X_{1v} poem: "Marsilius Ficinus bin ich genant / In der Stat Florenz gar wol bekant" (etc.); contents in general outline; X₂ dedication of translator to Heinrich GRAUEN of Werdenberg, canon in Strassburg; X_{2v} title of Ficino's dedication to Lorenzo MEDICI, and woodcut 150mm x 135mm; X₃ (both sides) preface of Ficino, division of work into three books; X₄ in one single column: preface of Ficino to the first book, addressed to Giorgio Antonio VESPUCCI and Giambattista BONINSEGGI; X_{4v} col. 2: register of Book 1; Y_{1v}-AA_{2v} (no columns): Das Buch des Lebens; AA₃ preface of Ficino to Book 2, addressed to Philippo VALORI, with register of chapters; AA₄-DD_{4v}: Das ander buch ... von dem langen leben; DD_{4v} col. 2. explicite: ... "erst mals recht nach dem latin corrigiert und emendiert durch Johannem Adelphum Mülch zu Strassburg im iar 1508 am abent des Ertzenegels Michaelis"; EE_{1v}-GG_{8v}: "Von quinta essentia"; this part is not translated by Adelphus; it is called "das fünfte Teil" of the volume, followed by "das letzte buch des Medicinarii"; GG_{8v} col. 2. colophon.

The 24 woodcuts are as follows: 1. on tp., 100 x 155, Marsilio Ficino sitting on chair on terrace, with a young and an old man standing before him; low wall of terrace; castle in background; 2. on X_{2v}, 150 x 135, 7 persons within a room; 3. on Y_{1v}, 85 x 155, the nine Muses, one of them sitting on throne and crowning a kneeling man; 4. on Y_{1v}, 110 x 160, garden with 4 figures, medicinal plants, and distilling oven; 5. Y_{4v}, 85 x 140, scene from a brothel, with 7 prostitutes, and 3 men of different nationality; 6. Y_{6v}, 60 x 145, tripartite allegorical cut showing a) a talking pair, b) the earth and stars, c) a sleeping man; 7. Y_{6v}, 60 x 155, tripartite cut, allegorical showing a) time for recreation, b) for work, c) for eating; 8. Z_{2v}, 170 x 135, inside of an apothecary's shop with 2 figures, and vials on two shelves; 9. Z_{4v}, 15 x 140, interior scene with 2 sitting figures at table, one playing a musical instrument, oven in left back; 10. Z_{6v}, 160 x 135, scene in a kitchen with 2 figures; 11. Z_{6v}, 75 x 140, tripartite cut with bloodletting scene in the center; 12. AA_{1v}, 75 x 145, tripartite cut with man on sleeping porch suffering from insomnia, in center; 13. AA_{2v}, 80 x 135, exterior, with man traveling in coach drawn by 4 horses, 2 bystanders, 2 reading music notes or map (symbol of forgetfulness?); 14. AA_{3v}, 85 x 80, interior scene with magister and a little child in front of bookcase; 15. AA_{4v}, 120 x 150, exterior scene, with man sitting at covered table in garden, 4 musicians, two on each side, woman coming from left back; signed (on the little label hanging over the sitting man's head): C. A.; for the life of this woodcutter and his other works see Nagler: Die Monogrammisten, under No. 2186; from the style of the cuts he seems to be the artist of all the unsigned cuts; 16. AA_{5v}, 80 x 150, tripartite cut: a) man sitting before fireplace, b) old man in bed attended by physician, c) physician holding up a urine bottle; 17. AA_{6v}, 145 x 140, poor man in a hospital (?) bed attended by 3 physicians; 18. BB_{2v}, 60 x 60, small town and castle; 19. BB_{6v}, 65 x 60, old man enjoying sun, country, and God; 20. BB_{6v}, 60 x 145, bipartite cut: a) dining scene before a house with 10 figures, b) two wanderers (tramps?) lying on ground in front of forest and fountain; 21. CC_{1v}, 120 x 155, Aeneas, Dido, and others at table; 23. CC_{6v}, 120 x 145, Virgilius and Maecenas walking out of Rome to open country full with vineyards; 24. DD_{4v}, 135 x 85, Virgin with Child adored by the three Oriental kings.

¶NOTE: The first part of this edition of the MEDICINARIUS was printed Strassburg, Joh. Grüninger, 1509, and separately bound; usually catalogued under BRAUNSCHWEIG. For description of SGL copy of this part (119270) see under BRAUNSCHWEIG. The titlepage has a large bipartite woodcut, its upper half being identical with Cut No. 1, the lower with Cut No. 4 described above. The title reads: "Liber de erte distillandi ... Oueh von Marsilio Ficino und anderen hochberömpften Ertzte natürliche und gute künst, zu behalten den gesunden leib und zu vertreiben die Krankheiten mit erlengerung des lebens."

Copy: German Museum; SGL.

Published as part of the MEDICINARIUS under the general title: "Das distillierbuoch" (etc.) of Braunschweig; first half of 130f.; second half not foliated, sigs. A-I, all in 6, except A and I, which are in 8; text 240; Gothic; 21 cuts (different woodcutter). Title: "Das buoch des lebens" (etc.), without the translator's name; text of FICINO from A_{1v} to G_{6v}, followed by the 5th and 6th part of the MEDICINARIUS.

The woodcuts number only 21; they are essentially those of the 1508 edition, but made by a different artist, probably by "P.", whose signature appears on the bipartite woodcut on E_{5v}; several bi- and tripartite cuts in new arrangement; also new cuts as follows: 1. A_{4v}, 80 x 160, bipartite: a) the 9 muses standing, b) man entering the room; 2. C_{6v}, 140 x 135, interior of an apothecary's shop with 4 figures; 3. D_{3v}, 75 x 155, tripartite cut: a) physician holding up urine bottle, b) scene of courtship, c) wall with window; 4. D_{8r}, 80 x 155, tripartite cut: a) old pair sitting at dining table, with musicians, b) man kneeling and admiring a garden, c) six old persons standing in a crowd; 5. 60 x 145, E_{4r}, tripartite cut: a) old pair in a building, b) old pair walking, c) street scene with 9 figures; 6. E_{3v}, 60 x 155, bipartite cut: a) man in bed attended by three persons, signed "P.", b) garden scene with 6 figures; 7. F_{2v}, 100 x 75, dining table with 6 figures at table, and 2 musicians; 8. F_{3v}, 115 x 145, open country with city in background, several pairs picking flowers, b) a chained monkey, c) street scene.

134 Op. 1: (translator and commentator) DIOSKURIDES. De medica materia.

Critical reconstruction of the original text from 5 different codices, then translated into Latin, with an attempt of using the medical terminology of Celsus, Plinius, etc. and of identifying the plants described by Dioskurides. The annotations or commentaries, which make up about 50% of the work, are a mixture of medicine and philology, often with severe criticism of Ermolao Barbaro. Dedicated to Leo X. Pope (died Dec. 1, 1521). Text begins and ends: "Post multos non veteres tantum ... ampliore volumine libroris et legentes defatigare: visum non est."
